BOYNTON BEACH, Fla., June 5, 2018 /PRNewswire/ -- After over 30 years of building custom oceanfront estates, Dale Construction is transitioning to RWB Construction Management, with Robert W. Burrage as CEO and founder. This transformation is the natural evolution of Timothy Dale's retirement, as Robert has been managing the company in its entirety for more than five years.

With this transition, RWB Construction Management has retained 100 percent of their staff, subcontractors and clients. Robert and his team's primary focus during this exciting time is on providing a seamless changeover for all partners and clients.

As Robert states, "Timothy's ability to see my potential as a young college student gave me the opportunity that I needed." As the vice president and managing partner of Dale Construction, Robert has grown Dale Construction to levels it had never seen. With that, Robert comes into his new position equipped with the experience and professionalism required to build upon and enhance the company's construction management and estate maintenance services.
